THANKSGIVING DAY QUIET ONE, IN WASHINGTON

Nation's Business Suspended
As Officials Observe
Annual Custom

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—The nation's business was practically suspended in Washington's observance of Thanksgiving day. Public offices were closed but there were no public functions. Most of the cabinet officers followed the example of the president and remained at home after attending church. The president spent the morning on the porch of the White House and took a short drive in the afternoon. In the evening he and Mrs. Wilson were hosts to a few relatives at a Turkey dinner. Mrs. Wilson attended St. John's Episcopal church in the morning.

MAN SERIOUSLY HURT BY NEGRO

Jack Carter, an employee of the Nevada Wholesale Grocery company, lies today at the Mine Operators' hospital with a fractured skull, and Scotty McSpadden, a negro, is under arrest following a quarrel late yesterday afternoon. Mystery surrounds the details of the trouble, for Carter has not yet been questioned by the police. His condition is reported as very serious today, although he has regained consciousness.

The injured man was discovered lying in a pool of blood near the McClain & McSweeney barn yesterday afternoon by Dennis Hill, who immediately notified the police. First aid was given to him, and he was removed to the county hospital, where, in response to a question, he accused Scotty McSpadden of hitting him. McSpadden was arrested later in the evening and is being held awaiting the outcome of Carter's injuries.

The negro was taken to the hospital during the evening and was identified by Carter as his assailant. The wound in Carter's head is such that it is thought he was struck with a blunt instrument. The skull was fractured and a cut several inches long was made in the scalp. During the evening Carter was removed to the Mine Operators' hospital where an operation was performed and he is reported as doing nicely.

Carter was a teamster for the Nevada Wholesale Grocery company, and it is said that he had suspected the negro of stealing hay at various times. Whether the trouble that led to his injury was over this is not definitely known today. No charge will be placed against the negro until the extent of Carter's injuries are known.

LEAGUE TRIES TO PULL U. S. INTO ARMENIA

Delegates Attempt to Fasten
Troublesome Question
On America

(By Associated Press)
GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 26.—The attitude of delegates to the assembly of the league of nations toward the appeal to President Wilson to act as mediator of the Armenian situation appears to be hopeful with the expectation that the United States will relieve Europe and the league of an embarrassing question. Great Britain would look with disfavor on the intervention of a power having rival interests. The action by the United States would not involve such complications. France may act as mediator, but on condition of the support of other powers.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—President Wilson today received the appeal from the league of nations that he act as mediator in the Armenian situation. He has already consented to fix the boundary of Armenia, but it is not known whether he will act as mediator.

'NIG' PASSES TO GREAT BEYOND

"Nigger," the 13-year-old Gordon setter belonging to the editor of The Bonanza, passed to the great beyond Wednesday night, it having become necessary to have him chloroformed due to his suffering incident to his advanced age. "Nig" was a real pal and was loved by those with whom he was associated, and his passing causes sadness to all who knew him.

The dog was known to every man, woman and child in Tonopah, and his fame extended even beyond the borders of the state. He was the constant companion of the editor of The Bonanza to whom he was loved as only a dog can be loved, and at length he has passed beyond the memory of him who will not be forgotten.

"Nig" was a real friend, constant in his affections and always true to his master.

If there is a heaven for dogs, "Nig" through the good qualities which he showed on this earth, has certainly won a place therein.

WHITE CAPS CUT WEST ORE BODY

The west ore body in the White Caps mine at Manhattan was cut Wednesday evening, according to word which was brought to this city today by William McClure. The crosscut has penetrated 11 feet of strata ore ranging in value from $30 to $65 per ton. The ore in this new find is more tractable than that in the east part of the mine and a saving of better than 80 per cent is expected.

The management of the White Caps plans operation of its mill as soon as the ore body is proven and certain changes in the manner of treatment are made. The finding of this west ore body causes a great deal of satisfaction in the Pine Tree camp, for on it depended the future of the mines of that district.

Fifteen lease blocks, both lode and placer, are being operated in that district, according to the statement of Mr. McClure, who goes on to say: "Manhattan has had many booms and boomlets, all of which occurred in the winter time, and it looks as though history was going to repeat itself this year in that camp."

The Polish military authorities protested and when the bombardment was stopped five had been killed and 16 seriously injured. The bolsheviks explained that they believed the place was east of the armistice line and in the hands of the Ukrainians. Perymyk's Russian army, which attempted to co-operate with Petlura's Ukrainians has virtually been destroyed. It was stated in Tarnopol, the bolsheviks reaching the eastern bank of the Zbrucz river along its entire length. Reports indicate that Petlura's army, commanded by Pavlenko, has been wiped out. More than 25,000 fugitives of these armies have crossed the Polish frontier, have been disarmed and sent to Polish internment camps.

Oldtimers Tie High School in Fast Game

In a game full of features from start to finish, the Oldtimers' football team held the fast high school eleven to an 8 to 0 score yesterday afternoon.

The most exciting moment of the game was the second quarter when the schoolboys, by means of a white end run, put the ball on the one-yard line, with three downs in which to score. But the Oldtimers braced and each time the high school backs would hit the line they would find some one ready to down them without a gain. The ball lacked a yard and a half of being over the line of the fourth down, and the Oldtimers immediately punted out of danger.

The school apparently saved the high school team from defeat in the fourth quarter of the game. The Oldtimers seemed to take new life in the period and advanced the ball almost the length of the field, only to be held for down on the 10-yard line. The high school punted to Zoni on the 30-yard line and before an other play could be run off the game ended.

The town team played straight football, not attempting any forward passes, while the high school at tempted a large number, but most
